

NutriLeads B.V. (www.nutrileads.com) is an innovative Nutrition & Health start up that develops food ingredients with demonstrated health effects for specific patient and consumer groups. To accelerate development and clinical testing of its lead compound that supports immune function and increases infection resistance, NutriLeads will expand its team of currently 5 persons in Wageningen with:

Senior Clinical Research Manager (0.6-0.8 Fte)
with a taste for nutrition and the ambition to join a startup

We are looking for an experienced Clinical Research Manager to initiate, monitor and coordinate (multi-centre) clinical trials with (medical) food products in patients and healthy volunteers. You will report to the management team and work closely with others in the company, with CRO's and leading experts in the field.

Profile

- Scientific background (MSc / PhD) in the life sciences
- ≥5 year experience coordinating (multi center) trials in patients
- Track record and strong capabilities to build and manage effective collaborations
- (Extensive) network with CROs and clinical sites
- Experience with (medical) food trials or registration of FSMP products are a plus
- Willingness to travel to international collaborators

Administrative assistant (0.3-0.5 Fte)
facilitator of an ambitious startup

We are looking for a competent Administrative Assistant to support management and the rest of the team. The goal is to facilitate the efficiency of the overall business by ensuring all assigned administrative and organizational duties are carried out timely and efficiently.

Profile

- Proven experience as secretary or similar support role
- Fluent in English (verbal and written)
- Proficient in MS Office
- Excellent organizational and time-management skills
- Solid communication and negotiation skills

For both positions, we seek team players that show enthusiasm and flexibility, good cross-cultural skills, are self-starting/autonomous, and have the motivation and mindset to thrive in a start-up environment. Appointments are initially for 1year with the intention to grow the positions and make them permanent, depending on individual performance and the continued success of the company.

For more information and applications contact Dr Ruud Albers:
ruud.albers@nutrileads.com, +31 651 304 491